COMMENT and RUMOR

Have you given a pint of blood today?
Will you be able with pride to say,
When the war is over and won,
"At least one lad I know will live,
And his veins will flow the blood I give."
—RUTH FAYMAN.

If you want some fine hand-dipped chocolates, rich and good like in pre-war days, just drop in at Cache of Sweets, 5019 Newport ave., and pick out your favorite. They are good and fill the yearning of a "sweet tooth" with entire satisfaction.

Several gentle rains of the past week have been fine for our gardens. We hope you have yours in so that you can go out and pick a bunch of chard, lettuce or green onions. Home grown cauliflower and cabbage should be at their best right now too, with green peas in bloom or beginning to fill the pods.

Noting Navy field had a ball game on last Sunday we asked an interested party about the teams. He said Roar Aircraft and Ryan were contestants. The net proceeds, some $2,300, was given to the Crippled Children's Society of San Diego. The score—We didn't learn. Was too much interested in knowing such good efforts were being carried out for the youngsters.

Next Sunday, Feb. 13, Consolidated and Rohr Aircraft will play. The net proceeds in this case too, are going to a fine cause. They will be given to the wounded service men recently brought here from the battle of Tarawa.

Have you noticed the woman letter carrier of route 163. This route serves part of Bacon st. north of Newport ave., Santa Monica ave., part of Newport, and an odd shaped part of the beach. Margaret Duffield is the carrier and doing a mighty good job for a beginner. She is the only lady to serve in this capacity at the beach and it is a hard grind, even for veterans with callouses on their feet.

San Diego postoffice has a half dozen women carriers working out of the central office. On many routes the postal carrier walks from eight to a dozen miles per day. There are several hundred stops and people keep moving about pretty frequent. The load is heavy too. Magazines and newspapers come in big batches on certain days or certain times of the month, so bear with your postal carrier, and be patient if they don't get around quite as fast as you might expect.

Civilian Defense---Care Advised

DOROTHEA F. MILLER

B-3066—District 7

Capsule report of central committee held in the Chamber of Commerce Feb. 2nd. Mrs. David A. Fraser presided, she urged district leaders to send in the number of hours spent in Civilian Defense by sector and block leaders, up to Aug. 1, 1943.

Verne Parker, assistant to W. W. Cooper said, "there can be no business as usual," while Army planning maintains San Diego as a defense zone. Miss Mary Nichols, a member of the Civic League of Women Voters, said "the winning of the war should not be an excuse for letting first principles of Democracy slide."

Mrs. Edw. Crokat, president of the Pan-American league, gave a most graphic picture of the women of Latin America, they are matching our effort and in some instances surpassing us, in their Civilian Defense activities. Vincent Whelan, OPA executive, explained the use of tokens in the rationing program to start Feb. 27.

District 7 Meeting Held Feb. 7. Mrs. R. W. Orrick reported that while the clothing drive was highly successful, the clothes will not reach the distressed people of Europe until they are sorted and packed. Can you give from two to four hours a week? Call Mrs. Orrick, B-6121.

The salvage committee will give us the discarded clean woolen material to convert into slippers, jeep and labrobes. This is good news for sector and block leaders, who want work for their block women.

Mrs. Beatrice Simpson spoke on "The Privileges and Responsibilities of Citizenship." She said: "In this year especially, we can not take our vote too lightly, we must decide either to take our part in government or leave it to the professional politicians. The majority of us were educated at public expense to make us better citizens. What are we doing in return? If you neglected to vote at the last general election, you must re-register. Out of those residents, residing in California 1 year, and in the county 3 months, have the privilege of voting here, if they register. Registration books close April 6."

Our next box of soldier comforts will be sent to Ft. Rosecrans. We want wash coats, lap robes, shoulder shawls, slippers, books, games, and articles similar to those put in the Christmas boxes.

Blood Donors Great Need Now

The Red Cross blood donor service is sending out an appeal to all persons eligible to donate blood to help out in a real emergency.

The booking sheets for the center at Columbia and Beach sts. are blank for the period between Feb. 16 and Feb. 25.

The cause of the emergency was the enforced closing of the center for 10 days last Dec. When alterations had to be made. No donations were taken those days, so no repeat appointments were made for eight weeks from those dates. The time which must elapse between donations.

2400 men in uniform will need the precious plasma that the army and navy expect to be donated in that interval.

If you have been waiting for the time when the Red Cross really needed your blood, the time is now. Call Franklin 7704 and say "Put me down as one of your Feb. Emergency Donors!"

IN THE SERVICE--

News from our local boys in service as well as letters or excerpts of letters will be gladly published in this newspaper. Please bring them in for many service men receive the Ocean Beach News by mail weekly and are glad to hear of former friends.

Mrs. Haas Will Sponsor War Ship

A new destroyer escort vessel, to be named the U.S.S. Haas, in honor of John W. Haas, navy warrant officer who lost his life in the Battle of Midway, will be launched soon at Houston, Tex. Mrs. Gladys Winifred Haas, the hero's widow, of 4376 Saratoga ave., was notified Monday by the secretary of the navy.

Mrs. Haas, who has been asked to sponsor the ship, will go to Houston for the launching. Her husband, a chief machinist, was cited for "pressing home his attack (against Japanese navy units) to a point where it became relatively certain that in order to fulfill his mission, he would probably sacrifice his life."

Awarded the Navy Cross posthumously, Haas was reported missing June 4, 1942, and a year later was declared officially dead. He enlisted in the navy in 1929, and worked his way up through the ranks.

Sgt. Paul B. Haas, U. S. A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Haas, 4732 Muir ave., writes from somewhere in England, that the weather is very cold. He misses all the good things to eat including pop and candy and his mother to please send some hard candy. Paul attended Pt. Loma high school two years. He has been in the service almost two years.

Pfc. Roland W. Noorda, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Noorda, 5005 Newport ave., has completed advanced electrical training at the army air forces training command school at Chanute, Kan.

La Rue Noorda, his wife, Mrs. Noorda, visited his father, who is in the service, at Salinas, Kan.

His brother, Pvt. Claude E. Noorda, U.S.A., is home on furlough for a few weeks, from Fort Scott, San Francisco. The brothers attended Pt. Loma high school three years.

Lt. Francis E. Swiderski, U. S. N., 29, has won the Marine Corps Medal for heroism in the attempted rescue of two survivors of a swamped landing boat in the icy waters off Attu last May 11. He noticed two men floundering in the water and plunged overboard from another landing boat and swam through the darkness and fog to aid them. A boat attempting to assist him forced him under water, and compelled him to lose his hold on the men. After being rescued and taken to the beach, he resumed his duties as supervisory beachmaster directing the unloading of supplies in clothes still wet from the cold water. His wife, Mrs. Genevieve Swiderski, resides at 3435 Freeman st.

Ens. John Combes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy D. Combes, 3212 Madrid st., received his wings Sunday, Jan. 30 as naval flyer and has been transferred to Florida for active duty.

Dave J. Mueller, CMM, U.S.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mueller, 4887 Long Branch, is visiting his parents while on a 30-day leave. He has experienced overseas duty in the Solomon theatre of war. Dave, a Pt. Loma high school graduate, expects to report for new duties next month.

Dan P. Mueller, 3c seaman, fire patrol, U.S.N., was here for three days last week, from San Francisco, to attend the wedding of his sister, Mrs. Katharine Bell and to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mueller and family.

Philip Bernard Quinn, of 2257 Bolina st., observed his 18th birthday Monday by enlisting in the navy, and is stationed at the San Diego Naval training station.

"Barney" was raised in Ocean Beach, by his aunt, Mrs. Margaret Eriel and attended the grammar school and Pt. Loma high school where he was a star player on the basketball team. He was active in church circles.

Test At High School For Youths 17 to 21

The third Army-Navy College Qualifying Test for the army specialized training program and the Navy College program V-12 which will be given throughout the country on Wednesday, Mar. 15, at 9 a.m., will be administered at the Pt. Loma high school, L. L. Bloomenshine, principal, announced today. A leaflet of general information which contains an admission-identification form may be obtained at Point Loma high school. This form properly filled out will admit to the test students between the ages of 17 and 21 inclusive who are high school graduates or who will be graduated by July 1, 1944. Intent to take the test should be made known immediately to L. L. Bloomenshine, principal, in order that the necessary test supplies may be ordered.

The same examination will be taken by both Army and Navy candidates. The examination is designed to test the aptitude and general knowledge required for the program of college training and all qualified students are urged to take the test. At the time of the test each candidate will be given a choice of service preference, but taking the test does not obligate the candidate to enlist in the service.

The Army specialized training program is aimed to meet the Army's needs for specialists and technicians in certain critical fields of study. Academic work is at the college level at government expense. The Navy college program also enables students to continue academic training at government expense. Successful completion of the prescribed courses may, following further officer training, lead to a commission.

and served as leader of the young people's league of the Baptist church. For the past two years he has been an employee of Piggly-Wiggly store.

Stefan Sivak jr., chief storekeeper, U.S.N., who has been stationed at the U. S. Naval commissary, has received orders for an advanced base. Sivak, with his wife, Ellissa, resides at 4650 N. agara ave. He has been in continuous service for almost 15 years, of which 8 1/2 years was spent on the U. S. S. Houston, which later served as the fishing cruiser for President Roosevelt and was finally sunk in the Java seas.

Promoted to corporal from private 1c, Walter O. Roenicke jr., U.S.M.C., of 2313 Plum st., has completed training as a parachute rigger at the Lakehurst, N. J. naval air station.

James Thomas Finster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Finster, of 3335 Whittier st., has completed primary flight training at the Hutchinson, Kan., naval air station, and has been sent to Corpus Christi, Tex., for further training. A graduate of Pt. Loma high school and former State college student, Finster will be commissioned an ensign in the naval reserve or second lieutenant in the marine corps on graduation.

Sgt. Robert F. Chamberlain, U. S. A., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Chamberlain, 4625 Cape May ave., arrived home Tuesday from Camp Rucker, Alabama, to spend a two-week furlough with his parents. Robert is a supply sergeant at the camp and has been in the service two years last December.

Lieut. Thomas W. Green jr., received his "wings" Feb. 8th at Luke Field, Ariz., and his parents expected him to arrive home yesterday, to spend a short furlough with them at their Tennyson st. address on Point Loma.

Young Queen is a graduate of Point Loma high school following which he was a student at State college and Boyden's preparatory school. At State he affiliated with Eta Omega Delta. Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Queen sr. and sister Mrs. William Kemp are most happy to think the young flyer will be home for a short time.

Victor Kerley, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Kerley, 4455 Mentone st., has completed specialized aviation courses at the naval air technical training center at Norman, Okla. Kerley was a student of Pt. Loma high school.

Fraser L. Macpherson, navy doctor, has been promoted from commander to captain in the medical corps of the naval reserve, attached to the Naval hospital here. Macpherson, who is the officer in charge of the orthopedic department has been a member of the naval reserve for 20 years. His home is at 1920 Evergreen st.

Chamber Commerce Meets February 14

It won't be a Valentine party, according to Lloyd Greeson, president, but an interesting meeting is promised for Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce next Monday evening, Feb. 14, 8 p.m.

A prominent person will give a talk on the timely subject, Juvenile Delinquency, at the Methodist church log cabin, Sunset Cliffs blvd. and Saratoga ave. Property owners, business people and interested citizens are urged to attend.

War Souvenirs Shown In Bank America Display

To interest buyers in the 4th War Loan Bond drive, Ocean Beach branch, Bank of America, has many interesting souvenirs on display in their lobby this week.

Many of the relics are the personal property of women employees at the bank whose husbands are in service. There is a large quilted blanket, made in small squares by a marine on Guadalcanal, the material being camouflage cloth, and G. I. shirts and pants, that have seen better days. Flares, hand grenades and night signals are among the items as are also a picture frame, bracelet and pin, made from metal in a Jap zero downed at Guadalcanal. Others have made ash trays, napkin rings and other trinkets from Jap shells and metal plane parts. There is also a wicked looking marine raider knife, and captured Japanese helmet, canteen, mess gear and knife. Still more artistic are a hand carved Maori God and Maori swaggar stick, these latter coming from New Zealand. Largest in the display is a rubber life raft with all emergency equipment, loaned by the Coast Guard.

Thrilling Stories From World War II

Captain Eugene D. Wallace, who was co-pilot on a Martin Marauder which, after bombing a Jap airfield at Rabaul, was shot down into the sea by Jap anti-aircraft fire, with Major Knox Manning, nationally known radio commentator and news anchor who has returned recently from active duty in the Italian town of Agropoli, arriving there on the heels of the hastily retreating Germans, will be in San Diego on Feb. 25, and they have agreed to appear that evening before a public audience and give their separate accounts of their experiences on those wide-sea separated battle areas.

Captain Wallace and Major Manning will speak at the Russ auditorium, Friday, Feb. 25 at 8 p.m. Women's organizations and clubs are invited to reserve a group of seats, also the Waves, Wacs and Spars. There is to be no admittance charge for this program. Contact Evelyn Lawrence, 309 Orpheum bldg., for further information.

Revenue Office Open 8 A.M. to 5:30 P.M.

Extended hours will be observed by the San Diego division of the Bureau of Internal Revenue at its offices in the U.S. Customs building, 325 F st., beginning Monday, Feb. 14th, as an added service for those who cannot conveniently visit the revenue office before usual closing time.

New hours will be 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. each day except Sunday. The new working hours will be in effect from February 14th to March 15th.

All employees are in possession of receipts issued by employers on Form W-2, indicating the amount of wages earned in 1943 and the amount of taxes withheld from those earnings, are now in a position to file their final 1943 income tax returns.

Claude Noorda has sold his Ocean Beach Bakery property at 5001-5005 Newport ave., corner Bacon st., to James Marlow, who is also an experienced baker already on duty and learning the tastes of local customers. The bakery fixtures and business, as well as the one story frame building with real estate, have been purchased by Mr. Marlow. He has been a resident here for a half dozen years and the family live at 4533 Saratoga ave. Marlow has been a baker at the New Bakery on University avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Noorda bought this well located property some ten years ago and have been in the bakery business 14 or 15 years. They will retire for the present but do not intend to leave Ocean Beach—except that Claude says when victory is achieved he has a lot of fishing to do over in Utah and Idaho, near the Yellowstone park country.

Boy Scouts Troop 28 Dined By Sponsors The Kiwanis Club

Seventeen boys of troop 28 Boy Scouts of America, together with their scoutmaster, Ralph Chadwick, and Don Sweetwood, scout executive, were feted at 6:30 dinner Tuesday by Ocean Beach Kiwanis club. Women of the Methodist church served the group in the church recreation rooms.

Martin Murphy, scout representative of the club, was program chairman. Honored guests of the scout group in addition to the boys was Roy Brazell and Kenneth Spencer, assistant scoutmaster. Robert Brazell, former member of this same troop but now in the army air corps, being home on furlough, was also an honored guest.

Scouter Sweetwood spoke briefly to the group, telling of the good progress made from a small showing in the North Shore area to second place in importance in the county. He said San Diego now has nearly 4000 scouts and the Beach district is fortunate in having some of the best leaders and a strong group of boys growing up. In the Cub Scouts of Ocean Beach alone there are close to one hundred youngsters. Mr. Murphy was vice chairman of the local district was praised for enthusiasm and Fred J. Tucker, another local man given mention, was said to have 22 years of service for which he had been given the silver beaver award and was also holder of the "Scoutmaster's Key."

Scoutmaster Ralph Chadwick gave a history of the troop, of special work the past year, and said while they lost many of the older boys to war industries the younger group was making progress. Right now he said 10 recruits are learning the tenderfoot requirements. The boys too have energetically carried out civic duties such as posting war bonds, sales of war bonds and gathered more than six tons of old newspapers.

To complete the scout program was the Red Wing and Wolf patrols presenting mythical skits. Guests were Pvt. James T. Warner of the 7th Marines, formerly of Tampa, Fla., now a veteran from Guadalcanal; Dr. Barry Kellogg was a guest of Heber Hartvigsen, E. W. Ditties a guest of Commander Parks and young Jerry Swetland a guest of his father.

Court of Honor For Boy Scouts

The North Shore district will hold a Court of Honor tonight, Feb. 11, 7:15 p.m. in the Pacific Beach elementary school auditorium. This is Boy Scout week and the court will emphasize "Outing in Scouting."

The troop putting on the best building by fire tent building, fire building by fire and steel or friction, first aid, bridge building, etc., will receive the district banner.

Women Marines

Women's reserve USMC now serve their country in over 125 different capacities formerly assigned to combat marines . . . thus fulfilling their promise to "free marines to fight."

Food Waste

Garbage surveys show that the average American wastes 225 pounds of food a year. A good six-weeks' supply of wasted food is like throwing victory into the garbage can.

Snuffer Patented in 1810

In 1810 John Wilkes, of London, patented a cylindrical snuffer for candles that cut off, confined and extinguished the snuff in one motion.

Apply Fertilizer Regularly

Furnish available plant food to plants by regular applications of a complete plant food—one that furnishes the elements required by plants for maximum yield and quality.

Conserve Rubber

To conserve rubber, farmers can convert only the larger steel-drive wheels of their tractors to rubber tires, and not the small front steering wheels.

Covers Grain

Winter manure spread on late-sown fields of winter wheat or barley will give the grain additional protection from the weather.

Dairy Silage

Dairy specialists of the department of agriculture say that a dairyman needs at least 2½ tons of silage for each cow. More than 2½ tons a cow is still better.

Splitting Maul Better

For splitting large blocks of fuelwood, an Oregon splitting maul that combines a maul and a sharp blade is better than either an axe or a dull pole axe.

Slaughtering a beef on the farm is not particularly difficult but for those who do not wish to try, nearly every community has one or more butchers who will do the job for little more than the beef hide.

City 2,100 Miles Long

Honolulu, capital of the Territory of Hawaii, is a city 2,100 miles long. The city's boundary includes Palmyra island, 960 miles south, and Kure Island, 1,204 miles northwest.

Shearling Pelts

Shearling pelts are processed to make them look and feel like fur. The past year the army used 60 million square feet of such pelts for the air corps.

Regulate Optometry

Minnesota was the first state in the country to pass laws regulating the practice of optometry. The 48 states and the District of Columbia regulate the practice of optometry by law.

Needed for Clotting

Vitamin K is necessary for proper clotting of the blood in chicks and is plentiful in ordinary rations. A severe deficiency of this vitamin frequently results in chicks bleeding to death.

Best Culls

Leghorn pullets that do not start laying by the time they are 7½ months old are culls best sold for meat, instead of being kept for the few eggs they will produce.

WHAT OUR BOYS REALLY FIGHT FOR

I RECENTLY READ a piece in which the writer told of the kind of jobs the men in the armed forces would expect, and should have, when they finish the task of defeating the nation's enemies. According to that writer the men who left the farms, the factories, the banks, the stores and all the other types of vocations America offers, would, when they return, expect to step into jobs that would support good homes, situated in spacious grounds, elaborately furnished, with one or more cars in the garage, a yard man and a maid to do the work. A job that would provide the necessary funds for an extensive playtime devoted to travel, to hunting and fishing and other recreations that are enjoyed by "he" men.

Of such jobs as he pictured there may be half a million in all America, and there will be nine or ten million of those returning soldiers, sailors and marines. Not jobs enough to even start with.

That writer does not know the American type. He has no conception of the class of men who are fighting the nation's battles. To be sure they will want jobs when they come back and most certainly they should have them. They will want to go back to the things they were doing before the war called them. They want to go back to the farm, the factory, the desk. That is what they expect. They want to come back to a land that offers opportunity to develop the ability each possesses, where they can reap the rewards of that ability in whatever measure they may individually display it. They want a chance to earn that fine home in spacious grounds if they have the ability to do so. It is the maintenance of such opportunity for which they have been fighting. Those who may expect the comforts of life to be handed to them because they carried the burden of the battlefronts are the very, very rare exceptions.

PEACETIME TRAINING OF U. S. YOUNG MEN

OVER THE YEARS from 1916 to 1920 a group of well-intentioned men attempted to secure the enactment of a universal military training law. I was one of that group. At a meeting in the Union League club, in Chicago in 1916, I made the statement we could not accomplish the desired purpose so long as we classed it as a military training law, that the mass of American people were opposed to compulsory military service for their sons during peace times. I proposed we change the title to citizenship training. The real purpose was more that of making citizens than making soldiers, though under such a law as was proposed, and regardless of the title, military drill and discipline in the camps would be an essential feature.

At that time there were early indications of the sprouting of class distinctions in the nation. To put the young men of America, the sons of farmers, bankers, workmen, industrial executives, men of wealth and of poverty, into camp together, all living under exactly the same conditions, would destroy that sprouting class distinction. When these boys knew each other, when they became camp buddies, there could be no such thing as class antagonisms among them. The suggested change in title was not made. Public opinion and partisan friction prevented the passage of the bill.

Another effort will be made to pass a universal military training law. If the sponsors of the new bill will but take a lesson from the past and call it a citizenship training law, they can succeed and America will be better for having such a law.

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES

DOES THE RAISE IN WAGES given the civilian employees of the federal government, between August of 1941 and August of 1943, conform to the Little Steel formula? In August of 1941 the then 1,444,985 civilian employees received a total of $217,772,054, an average of $151 per employee. In August of 1943 the 3,063,379 present employees received a total of $646,372,969, an average of $211 per employee. The difference represents a 40 per cent increase in wages given to the civilian employees of the federal government. In November of 1918 the government had only 917,760 civilian employees. It would seem there might be an opportunity for some economies at Washington, that it might be possible to get along with a lesser number of bureaucrats.

A MINNESOTA READER sent me the figures of the number of federal government civilian employees in World War I and at the present time, with the personnel cost of the two periods, a difference of some two and a quarter billions a year. He did not know that there are now more federal civilian employees in his own state than the total employees of the cities, towns, counties and state, including all the police forces, in Minnesota. That state is not an exception, the same thing is true in no greater number of states.

Some Guess

Small Betty—We've got a new baby at our house. Guess what kind?

Small Mary—Boy?

Betty—Nope.

Mary—Girl?

Betty—Why, yes. Who told you?

Upper Crust

Brown—So you're setting your college graduate son up in the bakery business?

Blue—Yes, he's so keen for dough and such a swell loafer it looks as if he would rise!

Opposites

"What is the opposite of sorrow?" asked the teacher.

"Joy," answered the lad.

"And the opposite of misery?"

"Happiness," said the pupil.

"How about woe?"

"Giddap."

Fair Question

German to the Swiss—How come you have an admiral? You have no coastline, no navy, no empire.

The Swiss replied—Well, you in Germany have a minister of justice, don't you?

That's Bad

Mistress—Dora, has my husband been very unhappy while I was away for a month?

Servant—Well, ma'am, at first he was in fine spirits, but towards the end of the time he got less cheerful, and yesterday he was really sad.

Other Way Around

He had plunged into marriage for the second time.

A few months had passed. Meeting an old friend, he was asked: "Has your present wife a more even temper than your first one had?"

"More even? I should say not. Even more," he replied with emphasis.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Tire life on rough gravel roads is about 40 per cent less than on smooth concrete pavements. This was proved by tests conducted by the Iowa State College.

Soap, it develops, is to be a growing factor in maintaining motor transportation. It has been estimated that 100 million pounds of soap will be required for one year's production of synthetic rubber.

Camelback, which gets its name because it originally had a hump in the center, is a growingly important product of the rubber industry. Over 20 million pounds of camelback are now being made monthly to recap tires.

A System that Produced this Result is Worth Keeping!

IN our America, the wages of a working man will buy twice as much as the wages of a working man in England...4 times as much as in the average European nation...20 times as much as in the nation of the Orient. This is the result of the American system... based upon free labor and free business . . . the system that brought to Americans the greatest wealth and the most freedom of any nation on earth.

This is the American system, too, which will meet and successfully solve the problems which come after war...just as it has met and solved the problems of 300 years of American life.

It's a system worth keeping!

Look Americans! Since the beginning of time, the only road to prosperity has been P-R-O-D-U-C-T-I-O-N and exchange of goods and services at a profit—the American system of labor and business.

From it you have earned personal benefits—your home towns have enjoyed increasing advantages—and your nation has become the richest on earth.

THE AMERICAN SYSTEM HAS CREATED THESE TANGIBLE THINGS FOR YOU:

—the highest standard of living in the world;

—the accumulation of personal savings and worldly possessions—your schools, your highways, your buildings—your life insurance, your home, your automobile;

—money to pay the cost of government, local,

state and national, including the payment of governmental debt;

And with it, you have the right to think, to speak and to worship as you choose—rights forbidden to millions not living under the free American system.

LINCOLN WOULD LAUGH

More than once, as history and the Life of Abraham Lincoln show, the Great Emancipator, whose birthday we celebrate tomorrow, was saved in the nick of time by a great and useful sense of humor.

We believe that Lincoln's beloved, homely face would twist into a grin if he could read the Seabee composition paraphrasing his own historic address at Gettysburg, written nearly meter for meter with his words, but describing the plight of a construction battalion in the South Pacific.

"Two score and seven days ago," carpenter's mate Arvin Sell writes, "our battalion brought forth upon this island a new project, conceived in a foxhole and dedicated to the proposition that all Japs are created evil. . . .

"The world will little note nor long remember what we build here, but we shall never forget the hash and beans we ate here. . . . Let us resolve that we shall not have sweat in vain; that this battalion shall have 30 days of freedom in the U. S. by Easter, and that this thought shall not perish from our hopes."

The parody will offend none but the narrow and unthinking. The boys in the battle areas need a sense of humor as desperately as Lincoln did his war travails. We venture the belief that the great man himself—who never could keep a straight face when anything comical was going on, and who understood ceremonial pomp far less than he understood his fellow men—would be the first to give a loud guffaw at the humor of the struggling young Americans who, unabashed, produce a parody on the words of their idol.

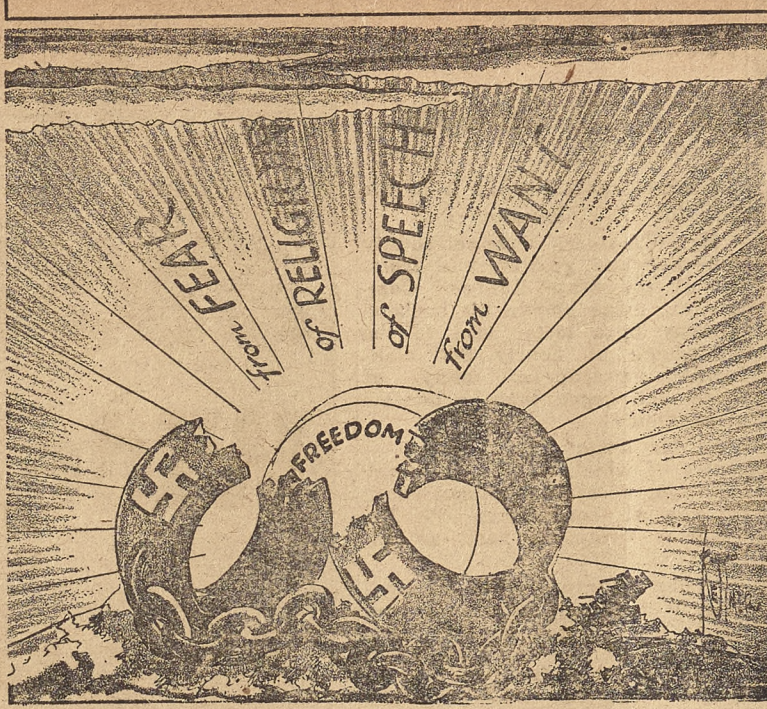

And Abraham Lincoln, who pardoned a young sentry who fell asleep on duty, undoubtedly would hope that those Seabee buddies of carpenter's mate Sell, building their bridges and gun emplacements and sanitary systems in the South Pacific mud, get their "30 days of freedom in the U. S. by Easter." We do.

Here's an all-year-round systematic savings plan that fits your need and fits your budget. You start your account for $1, $5, $10—or for any amount which you can deposit regularly each week, semi-monthly, or monthly.

The important point of the plan is this: You decide at the start on a particular amount to deposit, and you make 50 regular deposits of that amount. In this way your Thriftplan account helps you to develop savings discipline and the habit of making systematic deposits—the real secret of successful saving. If necessary, however, a Thriftplan account can be closed at any time. To make 1944 a prosperous year for you, open your Thriftplan account as soon as possible.

Committees Named
For U.S.O. Activities

Ocean Beach U.S.O. held a meeting Monday night, Feb. 7, for all U.S.O. senior and canteen hostesses. Chairman Lloyd Greeson reported that the Ocean Beach U.S.O. had now been operating six months and that all departments were functioning smoothly, making a "Home Away From Home" for over 3000 service men each month.

The following chairmen of the different departments were elected:

Supplies, Records, Reports — Mrs. Grace Greeson.
Program and entertainments — Charity Nickols.
Senior Hostess — Mrs. Esther Johnson, Mrs. Evelyn Ritzer, assistant.

Refreshments — Mrs. Esther Milton, Marjorie Stark.
Publicity, magazines, stationery — Mrs. Georgia Bick.

Secretary — Laura King.
It was voted the club not be opened until 5 p.m. except on Saturdays and Sundays, when it will open at 2 p.m.

A formal Valentine dance will be held Saturday evening, Feb. 19.

Pins will be awarded to hostesses having 50 hours and up voluntary service.

Donations of cookies, donuts and cakes are urgently needed and will be appreciated whenever possible.

WHAT WOULD a wounded soldier think of you if he could hear you say: "I can't afford to buy an extra War Bond?"

He might remind you that he couldn't "afford" to go to war! But he went, and now he's making more sacrifices . . . for you. No wonder he expects you to do something that will help him!

Especially when all you're asked to do is to buy an extra $100 War Bond this month. So check over your budget . . . see if you can't swing at least an extra $100 . . . or $200 . . . or $300 . . . or even $500 for extra War Bonds. You'll find that you can . . . and it's no sacrifice, either, for War Bonds are the best investment in the world today!

Publisher's Hat Tossed In Ring For U. S. Senator

Justus Craemer's hat is in the ring for U. S. Senator!

Mr. Craemer, Orange county publisher and grower, and member of the State Railroad Commission, made known his decision Monday in a letter sent to the publisher's of nearly 200 California newspapers, many of whom had urged that he become a candidate.

In his letter to publishers — copies of which were sent to the chairmen of all Republican county central committees — Mr. Craemer wrote, in part, as follows:

"Your generous offer of support, if I should become a candidate for United States Senator, is sincerely appreciated. I am deeply grateful for the response which has come from you and many other newspapermen in California since a committee of my publisher friends sent out a letter in my behalf.

"While my public announcement of candidacy will not be made for some days, I want you to know that I have weighed the matter carefully and have reached my decision.

"I will be a candidate for U.S. Senator—and with your support, and that of a host of other good friends who believe as we do, I am confident we will win."

Orange grower and publisher of the Orange Daily News, Mr. Craemer's farming and business experience has given him a keen insight into California's rural problems. On the other hand, his public career—including service as a secretary in the Governor's Office, as deputy director of the State Department of Public Works, as State Building and Loan Commissioner, and in his present capacity as a member of the State Railroad Commission—has brought him in close contact with the business and industrial problems of the entire State.

Firing one of the opening guns in the Craemer-for-Senator drive, the San Bernardino Daily Sun-Telegram, in a recent editorial, focused attention on the broad appeal which Mr. Craemer's candidacy will have to California voters, declaring:

"It is only natural that the people of San Bernardino county as one of the important rural counties of California — should be looking for a man who understands rural problems of this State, a man who has developed in that environment, but has gone on in public affairs to secure the broad training that fits him for thorough understanding of all of the State's diversified interests—urban as well as rural, industrial as well as agricultural.

"Justus Craemer fits that description of the ideal candidate for United States Senator!"

Marine Corps Women's Reserve Has First Anniversary Feb. 13

It was a year ago on Feb. 13th, 1943 that the Women's Reserve of the U. S. Marine Corps was established by an Act of Congress.

Lieutenant Colonel (then Major) Ruth Cheney Streeter was appointed Commandant and immediately called for the enlistment of 13,000 women who show the smartness and snap which characterizes the men of the Marine Corps.

Since that day over 13,000 women have enlisted. They are now stationed in every Marine base and station throughout the United States. It is the unanimous opinion of their commanding officers that they have proved efficient, intelligent and amenable to military discipline. Best of all, each woman has released a Marine to fight on the battlefronts of the world.

To quote Col. Streeter, "Women Marines realize that they do not face the dangers or hardships that confront the men of the Corps, but they take the same oath of enlistment as the men; they are proud of being full members of the same hard-hitting outfit and they are resolved that the high standards of the Marine Corps shall be safe in their hands."

Southern California has particular reason to be proud. Many of the Marine Corps bases, camps, stations and air fields are situated in this area. Women have answered the call and flocked to the headquarters of the Procurement Office in Los Angeles, which has maintained and filled its quotas steadily. Many Southern California women are thus stationed near their homes.

Lieutenant Colonel Roscoe Arnett, commanding officer of the recruiting district headquarters station in Los Angeles and Captain Norman S. Nyce, commanding officer of the procurement district headquarters station are both sincere in their praise for the women who have answered the Marine Corps call. They have found them to be of the highest type, sincere patriots, willing and loyal. They join, with their staffs, in congratulating the Women Marines on their first anniversary.

IT'S IN THE AIR. You can feel it, every time the Axis is struck. This is the climax year, the year of decision.

In history, 1944 will be the big year of the war—every stroke for victory counts more now. That's why it's vitally important for every American to beat his post, doing his part right now.

You, personally, have an important job in winning the war—buying War Bonds. It's not glamorous—no, not even a sacrifice, really, because you are only lending your money, to be returned with interest. But it is essential to complete victory.

Your part in this year of decision is at least one extra $100 Bond, above your regular Bond buying. That is your minimum individual quota. But don't stop there. Remember wars are won only by all-out effort. So buy $200, $300, $500 worth—buy more than you can afford. And buy your Bonds where you work—at the plant or at the office.

Your country is counting on you—let's make the year of decision OUR year!

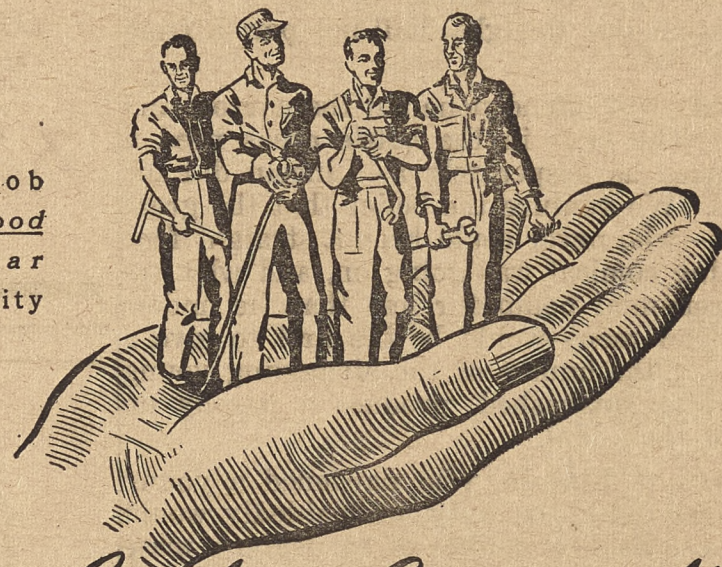

This sticker in your window means you have bought 4th War Loan securities.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Allied Nations Are Stunned by Stories Of Jap Atrocities to War Prisoners; Reds Surge Forward Below Leningrad; Fifth Army Continues March to Rome

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Beauty Parlor—Just like that, T-4 Joseph Drescher of Leavittsburg, Ohio, dropped into this chic little salon on Bougainville in the Solomons for a haircut, shine and manicure.

JAP ATROCITIES: 'Death March'

"Death March on Bataan." In these four ghastly words, the late Lieut. Col. William Dyess, who led a party of officers and men in escaping from Jap imprisonment, told a still more ghastly story of horror and atrocity committed against the heroic U. S. and Philippine defenders of Bataan by the enemy.

On 85 miles of road leading from Bataan to San Fernando, Colonel Dyess related in a war and navy department release, U. S. and Filipino troops plodded along from dawn to dusk for six days, thirsting under a piercing sun. Sick and delirious were dragged from the straggling columns and cruelly put to death. In one instance, prisoners were forced to bury three Americans and Filipinos alive at bayonet point.

Conditions in prison camps were equally atrocious, the army and navy report revealed. At one camp, the death rate was 20 Americans and 150 Filipinos a day in the first week. In the second week the rate jumped to 50 Americans and 500 Filipinos through starving and overwork.

Strike at Supplies

To make sure that there will not be another Tarawa when doughboys land in the Marshalls astride our supply lines in the mid-Pacific, U. S. bombers continued pounding defense installations in the islands.

On New Britain, Allied bombers struck hard at shipping in the port of Rabaul, which feeds barges supplying Jap troops through coastal depots.

With their bombers striking at enemy supply lines, U. S. troops drove farther inland, both on New Guinea and on Bougainville.

RUSSIA: Form Trap

Fighting raged on two widely separated sectors of the 800-mile Russian front, with the Reds fanning out below Leningrad in the north, and the Nazis counterattacking to strengthen their position 80 miles from the Rumanian border in the south.

As the Reds surged forward below Leningrad, they chewed two big holes in the Germans' positions on the northern and southern ends of this front, threatening to swing toward each other and throw a loop around the enemy's rear.

Far to the south, the Germans pushed slowly into Russian lines above the Rumanian border, keeping massed Red armies off balance, more than attempting any real breakthrough. In Poland, Nazi resistance stiffened.

Reject Mediation

The U. S. offer to mediate Russia's claim to one-third of prewar Poland was rejected by the Reds, and the situation became even more complicated with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's declaration that Great Britain could not recognize any territorial changes made during the war without consent of the parties concerned.

Russia's rejection of the U. S. mediation bid emphasized Stalin's disposition not to deal with the present Polish government—in exile, which he has accused of strengthening Germany by its requests that an impartial commission investigate Nazi charges that the Reds slew 10,000 Polish officers near Smolensk.

ITALY: At Nazis' Rear

With their supply lines leading to Cassino under fire of the Fifth army advancing inland from their invasion beachheads below Rome, the Germans launched a series of counterattacks in the new battle region while their long-range artillery sought to break up Allied troop concentrations.

Near Cassino U. S. and French forces moved through rugged Nazi fortifications to ring that key to the broad highway to Rome on two sides, while farther to the south, British units battered against the right flank of the enemy defense line.

By surging inland after their landings on the sandy beaches below Rome, the Fifth army threatened to cut off an estimated 100,000 German troops in the Cassino area, some of whom were being withdrawn back to counter the new Allied thrust. As the Germans moved back to meet the threat, Allied bombers roared in to machine-gun the columns.

ARGENTINA: Breaks With Axis

Declaring that a huge Axis spy ring within Argentina was working to overthrow the country's self-rule which previously had deemed relations with Germany and Japan to its best interests, President General Pedro Ramirez signed a decree breaking off diplomatic ties with Berlin and Tokyo.

Argentina's action followed U. S. refusal to recognize the revolutionary government of Bolivia on grounds that the new regime was linked with a subversive movement in South America designed to disturb Allied relations.

Obviously delighted by the turn of events, U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull declared: "It must be assumed . . . that Argentina will now proceed . . . to adopt other measures which all of the American countries have concerted for the security of the continent."

SOLDIER VOTE: Big Issue

Already a big issue of the present congressional session, the question of soldier voting in 1944 became a bigger issue when President Roosevelt directly appealed to the legislators to provide for federal supervision over service balloting.

Declaring that a system of absentee voting in which states would determine eligibility and print complete ballots would involve too much shipping and time, the President asked that the federal government be allowed to distribute blank ballots on which soldiers would then write in the names of their election choices or merely the name of the political party they favored.

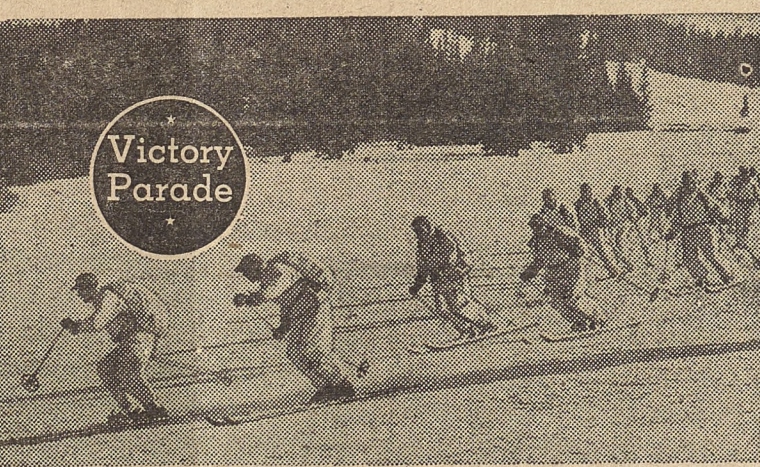

Champions of states rights assailed the President's recommendations, standing firmly for state supervision over registration to assure that each ballot is cast by the registrant himself, and objecting to the services' power to decide the voting time because permission might be given just before or in the midst of a great battle, when soldiers might feel that the country should pull together behind directing leadership.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

FOXHUNT: Since sporting Englishmen have been too busy with war to conduct the usual foxhunts, with horse and hound, the little animals have increased in boldness and have become a menace to poultry, lambs and game. A party of 500 soldiers and citizens, setting aside sportsmanship for the duration, killed 50 of the little red beasts in a great drive in Kent.

FEATHERS: The war has opened a new market for a domestic product—chicken feathers. They are now used for stuffing pillows and cushions. Before the war, 80 per cent of down feathers came from Europe and China. These were mostly from ducks and geese. New methods of preparing chicken feathers make them more sanitary, and softer than formerly.

Silent Motion for 'Ghost' Troops

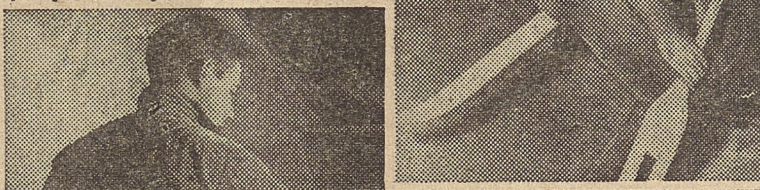

Swift white-clad warriors, who are semi-invisible against snow and who swoop to attack on smooth, silent skis, are aptly described as "ghost" troops. Their means of motion—skis—have risen to the status of a war weapon. Throughout the nation plants are rushing production of this weapon which was once known only to sportsmen.

Top: Ski troopers in action during maneuvers in the Colorado Rockies.

Top: This man, at a Laconia, N. H., ski manufacturing company, is smoothing a ski on a pneumatic drum. Right: With a new ski held in a bracket, this man is sitting on one end to test for flexibility.

Above: Civilian skis are generally given a natural wood finish. But army skis are whitened on the upper side so they will be harder to see against the snow. This worker is spraying a white non-reflecting camouflage paint on the "bedslats." Skis are new in warfare. During the Russian-Finnish war they came into prominence as a silent war was fought in the snowy wilderness where heavy mechanical equipment was stuck.

Left: A plant employee forms a Victory sign with a new pair of skis that may help to bring victory. Originally most skis were imported from Europe where the sport originated. Today American manufacturers have developed a ski which is believed to be superior to the European model. The ski, pictured as cut from hickory boards and laminated. Below: A trooper emerges from his cave home on Mount Rainier, Wash.

A worker stacks "bedslats" on drying racks. Later they will be waxed. Ski harnesses are not attached by workers but by troopers.

Pan Spinach

Another tasty and quick way to prepare spinach is to pan it. To prepare sufficient for four servings, melt two tablespoons of fat in a heavy flat pan, add a quart of spinach, cover the pan tightly to keep in the steam and cook until barely tender, stirring occasionally. The vegetable cooks in its own juices, so none of the valuable nutrients are lost. By using meat drippings as the fat, you can add good flavor to the panned greens, and at the same time save valuable ration points. Vary the preparation by using bits of leftover meat, or a little chopped onion, or slightly thickened milk or cream.

Connecticut Yank Helped Brazil Gain Independence

A jobless Connecticut Yankee who helped win and consolidate Brazil's independence more than a century ago has become a symbol of Brazilian-United States unity in the present war for freedom. He is Admiral David Jewett, New London sailor who served in the liberating navies of three American republics.

Jewett was born in New London in 1772 and a few years later made a trip across the Atlantic with his parents which confirmed the youthful voyager in his determination to follow the sea. He studied navigation after returning to the United States and was commissioned in the infant United States navy at the age of 19.

Commanding the 24-gun Trumbull, he distinguished himself in the war against the Barbary pirates and in the War of 1812. When one of America's first disarmament programs left him without a command, Jewett promptly offered his services to Argentine patriots in their struggle for independence from Spain.

From June 22, 1815, when he was commissioned in the tiny Argentine navy, Jewett's invincible wrecked havoc on Spanish men-of-war sent to suppress the uprising, until the last vestige of Spanish rule had been shattered six years later. His work done, the doughty warrior sailed his brig Maypu north, to do for Brazil what he had done for her southern neighbor.

Sketch of Mission Valley cloverleaf grade separation overpassing U. S. 101

AN IMPORTANT addition to and modernization of the highway system of San Diego was accomplished recently with the completion of the Rosecrans-Mission Valley Highway.

The highway is 3.5 miles in length and provides a 4-lane divided, concrete paved highway, leading to the east and connecting Point Loma with a proposed new freeway at the southern end of U. S. Highway No. 395, which will extend through Balboa Park directly into the business center of San Diego. To facilitate the free movement of traffic, the project includes six sets of traffic-actuated signals, together with a channelizing of the intersections; a rotary development at the intersection of Frontier and Rosecrans st., and a modern cloverleaf grade separation crossing over U. S. Highway No. 101 and the Santa Fe Railway main line into San Diego.

Eliminates Grade Crossings

The relocated highway removes a large volume of traffic from the Rosecrans st. railroad grade crossing, where many serious accidents have occurred in the past, and also relieves traffic congestion at the highway grade crossing.

The grade separation is a reinforced concrete, shallow girder type of structure, which was designed by the State Bridge Department with the intention of conserving critical materials and utilization of the lowest grade-line possible. It was necessary to provide for a four foot raise in the grade of the Santa Fe tracks which will be necessary at some future date in order to properly provide for flood control of the San Diego river.

The approach ramps, which provide access to U. S. Highway 101 from the separation structure, were necessarily somewhat restricted because of the limitations which were imposed by the proximity to the railroad on the east and the San Diego river on the north.

A portion of the highway traverses a low tideland flat which required importation of a large amount of select material for the roadway subgrade and embankment. The crossing of this low flat area presented an expensive drainage problem.

A storm drain 2,900 feet in length was installed which will carry the storm waters to a connection with a large concrete sump and pumping system, which was installed by other interests, and from which the storm waters are pumped through the south levee of the San Diego river. A portion of the drain was installed below tidewater elevation and in wet excavation and a system of well points was used to dewater the trench.

From Morena blvd. easterly, the grade of the new highway was established high enough to clear future maximum floods in the San Diego river, and portions of the embankment were heavily riprapped with rock to withstand the flood erosion.

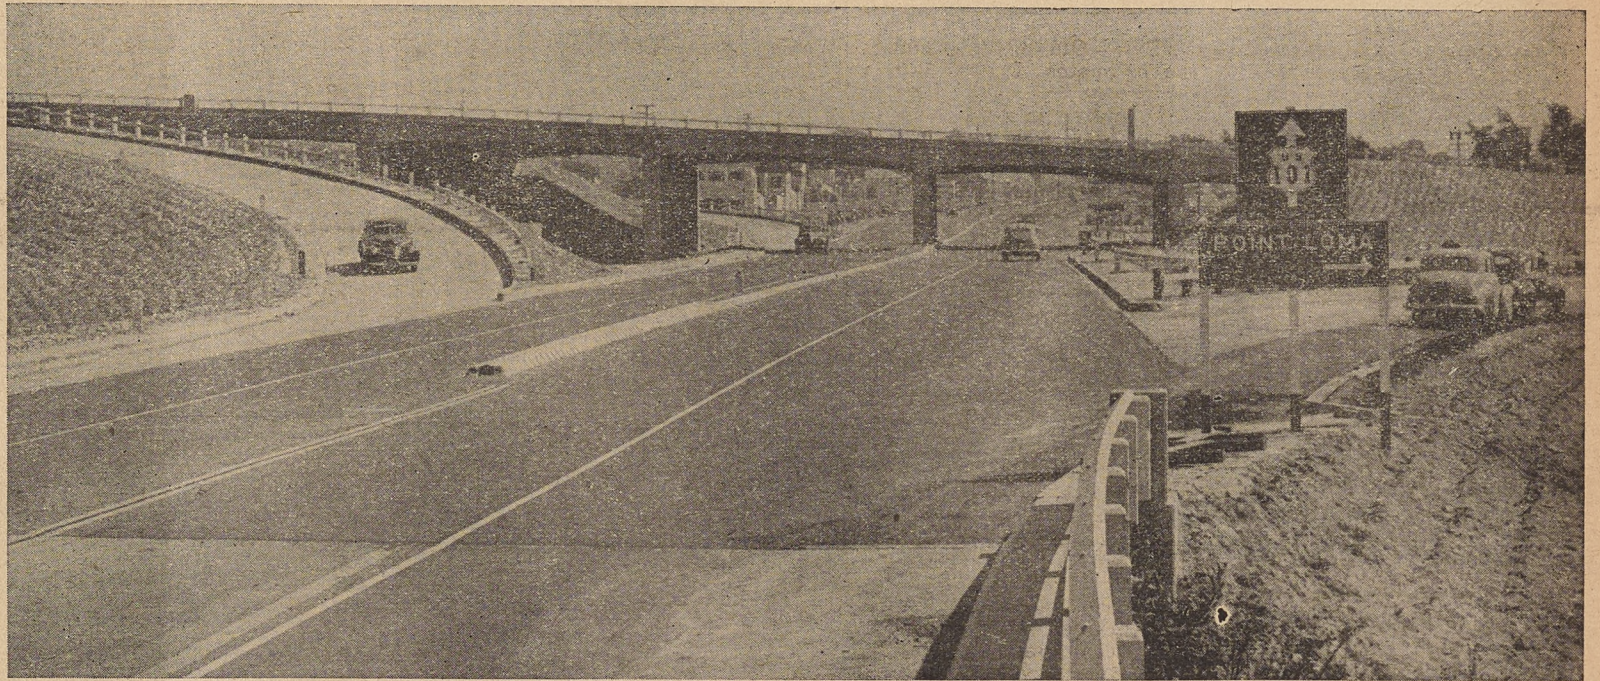

Wide rights of way were secured to provide adequate width for the divided highway and for possible future landscaping. Concrete pavement was designed with thickened edges and was thickened at the expansion joints, and the usual steel reinforcement was eliminated in order to conserve a critical material.

The project was approved as an access highway.

So you're tired of working, Mister, and you think you'll rest a bit, You've been working pretty steady and you're getting sick of it, You think the war is ending, so you're slowing down the pace, That's what you may be thinking, Sir, but it just ain't the case, What would you think, Sir, if we quit because we're tired too? We're flesh and blood and human, and we're just as tired as you. Did you ever dig a foxhole and climb down deep inside, And wish it went to China so you'd have some place to hide While motored "buzzards," packed with guns, were circling overhead And filled the ground around you with hot, exploding lead? And did you ever dig out, Mister, from debris and dirt And feel yourself all over, to see where you were hurt, And find you couldn't move, tho' you weren't hurt at all— And feel so darned relieved that you'd just sit there and bawl? Were you ever hungry, Mister—not the kind that food soon gluts, But a gnawing, cutting hunger that bites into your guts? It's a homesick hunger, Mister, and it digs around inside And it's got you in its clutches and there ain't no place to hide. Were you ever dirty, Mister—not the wilty-collar kind, But the cozy, slimy, messy dirt, and gritty kinds that grind? Did you ever mind the heat, Sir—not the kind that makes sweat run, But the kind that drives you crazy till you even curse the sun? Were you ever weary, Mister, I mean dog tired you know— When your feet ain't got no feeling & your legs don't want to go? But we keep agoin' Mister, you can bet your life we do, And let me tell you, Mister, we expect the same of you!

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"I will greatly rejoice in the Lord, my soul shall be joyful in my God." This declaration from Isaiah will be the Golden Text in the Sunday Lesson—Sermon on "Soul" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

In Matthew's Gospel it is recorded that when Jesus came into Galilee "great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them." Mark states that they brought to Jesus for healing "one that was deaf, and had an impediment in his speech; . . . And looking up to heaven, he sighed, and said unto him, Ephphatha, that is, Be opened. And straightway his ears were opened, and the string of his tongue was loosed, and he spake plain."

Mary Baker Eddy says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures": "Sight, hearing, all the spiritual senses of man, are eternal. They cannot be lost. Their reality and immortality are in Spirit and understanding, not in matter, hence their permanence."

Lincoln Program In

High School Today

As a special tribute to the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, students at Pt. Loma high school will have a program in their assemblies this morning at 9:10 and again at 9:50 by members of the public speaking class.

Janet Wallace has created and directed the program using as a theme a symbolic idea of bringing back for a few minutes personalities of several of our allied countries who in some way made a decided effort toward freedom and democracy for their countries as did Lincoln. Those appearing in the program will be John Mader, Tom Royal, Jolene Baldridge, Irene Phillips, and John Janney. These students will portray and speak for the countries of Poland, France, Russia, England and America. Janet Wallace will speak as commentator for entire program. Assisting will be Marilyn Wilhoit at the piano; Agnes Burdette, Norma Belloff, Floyd Strong, and John Roche on stage sets.

Janet Lush, newly elected commissioner of cultural affairs, will present Janet Wallace to the audience. A new feature of this semester's auditorium activities will be a brief community sing to open each program. Natalie Harpst, student leader, with the string ensemble to accompany will have charge of this part of the program. Friends and patrons of the school are cordially invited to attend this program at either time.

Evensong and Pictures

Trinity Episcopal Church

The last Sunday of each month, there is a service of evensong at 7:30 p.m. All people are cordially invited to attend this service, and further to share in the motion picture that follows. The motion pictures are the endeavor of Cathedral films, whose subjects deal with the life of our Lord. On Sunday, Feb. 27, the title of the picture will be "The Journey Into Faith." A silver offering will be taken for this service.

Don't be bashful, come out and tell your friends. Remember also, that the picture is shown in the morning for the church school, 9:15.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE RADIOCAST

A lecture on the subject "Christian Science: The Revelation of Man's Dominion over Evil" will be radio-cast over station KFVB (880 kc), Tuesday evening, Feb. 15, at 8 p.m., from Ninth Church of Christ, Scientist, Los Angeles.

QUEENS DIE PROUDLY

by W.L. White W.N.U. FEATURES

THE STORY THUS FAR: Lieut. Col. Frank Kurtz, pilot of the old Flying Fortress, known as "The Swallow," which escaped from Clark Field, tells of that fatal day when the Japs struck in the Philippines. Old 99, another Flying Fortress, is struck down before it can get off the ground, killing eight of her crew. Kurtz explains how Old 99 was due for camouflage, then orders were countermanded, and instead they were to load with bombs. Then he was ordered to jerk the bombs and reload with cameras for a reconnaissance trip over Formosa. They get word over the air that bombs are dropping over Clark Field. Then all are electrified by the shout, "Here they come!"

CHAPTER III

"I hadn't long to wait, because the nose of that leading V had passed the bomb-release line, and now came the first, unmistakable whistle—just as we'd heard it thousands of times over Murco—and then the dull cr-r-rump! The first bomb of their pattern had hit way up the field, three thousand yards away. I didn't know then it had hit the mess hall I had just left, and killed Bill Cooke, our group engineering officer.

"But now was the time to run for our lives, because here came more whistles, and the nose of the formation was over us now, like a huge cloud with giant halftones falling from it.

"So now Glenn and I ran for the nearest foxhole. It was a shallow one, two feet deep, built to hold one man, but we both jumped for it, and not until later did we realize there was a man already in it. We could think of nothing then except this earthquake roar and grinding and the whistling of a mighty storm moving down the field. You see there were about seventy planes in that formation, and each plane was to drop a train of about twelve bombs, which made around eight hundred bombs that were to cover that rectangular pattern in about the time it's taking me to say a few of these sentences. Meanwhile we were bracing ourselves—getting our arms and legs adjusted, worming as low as we could in that shallow hole—for what we knew was coming. I pulled my tin hat down to cover the side of my face and cheek against bomb fragments. Now it began. Not so much the thunderous roars as the shaking—at its mildest, the hard dirt quivered like a steel-tired truck thundering over cobblestones, and at its worst, bucked and pitched like a bronco. I kept feeling if I could only stay on a little longer I would live, because death was very close now—the grinding roars and whistles, the quivering, pitching earth—was coming closer, was thundering over us. And then quite suddenly was gone—the bomb trains had crossed the field, the pattern abruptly ended a thousand yards beyond it, and the Japanese formation was moving off.

"Yet even as the low hum of motors died away we were afraid to move. I was afraid to take my tin hat from my face for another half-minute, because maybe another V might be above us at its bomb-release line, and other trains might start thundering down.

"But the quiet continued and now we raised up in our trench. The black cloud of bombers was moving off, empty of its halftones—probably just now closing their bomb-bay doors, wheeling in the distance to head back for home. It was very still except for a rising crackle of fire—the smoke from our burning planes was just starting, the climbing columns had not yet blossomed into thick black plumes.

"But over this crackle we could hear another hum. Then we saw it, as we peered east over the edge of the field: a string of fighters—they must be our P-40's! We didn't know that all but a few of our P-40's had been bombed and shot down and their field ruined before the bombers came to us.

"So we stood there brushing the dirt from our clothes (one bomb had hit only fifteen feet away from me) and watched this formation approach. They were coming around beautiful Mount Arayat in a long string like geese flying north in the fall, and at only a little higher altitude—say 2,000 or 3,000 feet.

"Can you blame us for feeling good—to see some of our own gang in the air at last?

"All of a sudden Glenn Rice yelled, 'Look! For God's sake look at that red circle!' There it was on those up-cocked wings—not a lipstick red, but a kind of orange red, the Rising Sun of Japan. They weren't P-40's, as we now could see, but Nakajimas—and some Zeros—coming in from the direction of Corregidor, an attack string, each Jap leaning out as he circled to pick out which Fortress on the ground he would attack.

"As they circled we could hear our ammunition dump going up—it was like Fourth of July as the bombs burst in the heat—and in between the bangs there was that rising crackle.

"A three-quarter circle they made, like cracking a blacksnake whip over our already stricken airfield, and then they began to peel off to clean up with strafing what few Fortresses their bombers had missed.

"Ahead of me I could see men disappearing into a ditch—some diving head-foremost into it. (Bob Meyer almost broke his neck.) I tumbled in, and when I picked myself up I saw a soldier deliberately, slowly walking up to it, but just as he stood at the lip he seemed to collapse and came tumbling down. I thought the earth had caved in under his feet. Then as he struggled to his feet I saw his whole hip had been blown away. Now he collapsed in the arms of a sergeant and a private and died before our eyes—there was nothing we could do.

"Meanwhile we are watching the Jap fighters. Near our ditch is a Fortress snugly in a revetment.

"There is a sudden hammering of guns, and we see one of the Nakajimas has picked out this particular Fortress as his prey.

"Again and again the Jap comes in—making his approach (it was beautiful flying) after he has rolled out of his turn at about 150 feet—but his flight path brings him down as low as fifteen feet above the Fortress' wings. There is a routine about it. As he straightens out from his turn and comes at the big motionless bomber, first his small .25-caliber wing guns open up with a rattle, filling the air with a skein of tracers. Then, when these white threads show him he is dead on his target, we hear him open up with his 20-millimeter cannon.

"And as he pulls up off the target, he sprays with steel the lip of the ditch right over our heads as we crouch in the bottom. Each time we glimpse the pilot as he rolls for the attack. He wears a yellow scarf, but for the rest, in goggles and helmet, he might have been any of us. I don't think he notices us—he is too intent on the Fortress. It is only that we are right in his line of fire, and each time as he starts to pull up, his guns spray our trench lip before he has time to take his thumb off the button.

He collapsed in the arms of a sergeant and died before our eyes.

"But suppose he does see us? Some of the men had been loading bombs when the attack came and have their shirts off—their white backs are wonderful targets. So now we start to organize ourselves in our rat trap, pounding away with orders. If he does spot us, all he's got to do is come right down that ditch with his guns open.

"What anti-aircraft we have is thumping away now, but it isn't doing much good. In the first place it is so placed that the black smoke billowing up from the burning Fortresses gets between the Zeros and the ground gunners, blanketing their field of fire. In the second place, it was never designed to operate at as close a range as three hundred yards.

"So in our ditch we start a little war of our own—forty of us versus the Imperial Japanese Air Force; or rather those of the forty who have .45's, which is the pilots and the bombardiers. Every time that Jap strafes comes over, we bang away at him—I can't say we do any damage, and all we had to show for it afterward was a damn dirty pistol to clean, but it gives us some satisfaction.

"Meanwhile from all over the field you can hear two sound sequences—first the high rattle of the Jap .25-caliber wing guns as the tracers feel for the target, then the slower pounding of the cannon as they drive the main punch home—that I've described before. The other sequence was more heartbreaking. You'd hear a rising, hissing p-p-p-f-f-f-f-f-f! which means a tracer has gone sizzling into the gas tank of one of our dear old Fortresses—followed quickly by a great roar (everything letting loose at once), which means that the burning gasoline has exploded her bombs.

"But the Jap pilot with the yellow scarf who is working on the Fortress in the revetment next to us is now really getting down to business, coming in lower and closer each time. As we spot him coming tearing in for the attack we yell out our orders and grovel on our faces as his wing guns rattle and his cannon thump, followed by the ear-splitting roar of his motors as he swishes past over our heads—we popping futilely at the racing shadow with our .45's.

"On the eighth pass his tracers found their target—there was the hissing roar of gasoline, and from every one of the many bullet holes in the fuselage there billowed black smoke, enveloping her completely. But he made the great mistake of coming back just once again—maybe only to see what he had done. But for whatever reason, at this point the anti-aircraft opened up on him through a hole in the smoke. He seemed to jump a little in the air, and at the end of the run he didn't chandelle as he usually did, but kept on going and—'Look!' somebody said. 'A puff of smoke!' Sure enough it was—only maybe he was only clearing his engine—but three seconds later it was a definite black trail behind him.

"We held our breath as he wobbled and wavered off like a wounded bird, and when he rolled over on one wing down behind the horizon, never to rise again, we let out a cheer that shook more dirt down the walls of our ditch. Because up to then it had been all their Saturday.

"This seemed to signal the end of the attack, for now the Nakajimas and Zeros rose from the field like crows from a well-picked carcass and, falling into formation, disappeared around Mount Arayat in the direction of their carrier, which lay somewhere out of sight off Luzon down under the horizon.

"Now we climbed out of the ditch and started back toward Operations to report. But first we had to walk around the wreckage of the poor old Fortress. We walked wide not only because of the shimmering heat, but because it was a shameful thing we could hardly bear to watch, which no one will understand who doesn't love those big, beautiful B-17's as we did. There she was in her death agony—the plates had weltered together, leaving only her naked skeleton shimmering in the heat, and licked by oily flame. It made you sick and you wanted to look the other way.

"The rest of the field was littered with charred skeletons of planes. You'll remember the 19th Bombardment Group had comprised thirty-five proud Flying Fortresses. A dozen of them had been down at Del Monte Field in the southern island of Mindanao and so escaped this attack. Colin Kelly, who had come up from Australia, was flying one of them. But of all the rest which had been here on Clark Field, only five could be called airplanes any more. Even these five were badly damaged, and none of them could fly. But by pooling the five wrecks, replacing a wing here, a tail there, and taking two undamaged engines from a third, the Colonel hoped we could salvage in all, of the two dozen which stood on the field that morning, three planes which might get into the air—when the runway was cleared.

"As for the boys who hadn't come back from the hills yet, the Colonel wasn't in the least worried. 'It's like any good hunting dog,' he explained. 'The first time you put steel across him, of course he's scared. But after that—well, those fellows that ran away today will make as good soldiers as they come.'

"It was now late in the day, and he told me there was nothing I could do, and it would be all right to leave the target area until morning—in fact we'd better, because the Japs would probably be back tonight.

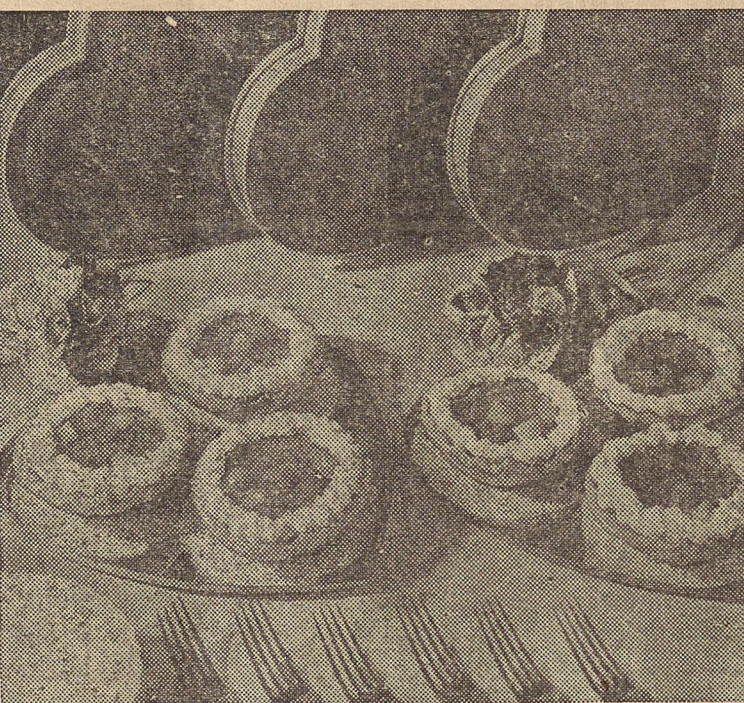

"Lieutenant Elmer Brown happened to be standing there with me, so we decided to go out together, and I left my bike, because it wouldn't be fair to Brownie. Brownie, who always has had a comfortable amount of money, said he'd call a taxi. But I knew nothing would come of that. The servants and almost everybody else were back in the hills, some of them still running, and anything you wanted done that day you had to do for yourself. So we collected a bedding roll apiece at the barracks and started off down the road. We'd walked for quite a while when at a crossroads we came on a convoy of trucks—it was an anti-aircraft outfit being moved back into position, I suppose where they could better protect the charred carcasses of our bombers.

"So we hooked a ride on one of these trucks, which was headed for a little native village around the other side of our field and a reasonably safe distance away. We got out when they stopped and, going to the nearest house, by signs asked the owner if he had a room for the night. He was a very nice fellow and took us upstairs to his own. I don't know where he slept. We unrolled our bedding on the bamboo floor and spread our mosquito nets, and Brownie went right off to sleep.

"I lay awake. That ack-ack convoy was still moving in and getting settled. Now and then a truck-driver wouldn't hear a sentry call 'Halt!' and would go rumbling by, and you would hear a rifle crack a couple of times.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Let Hearts Be Gay on Valentine's Day!
(See Recipes Below)

Cupid's Share

Hold on to your heart! Here comes Cupid ready to do tricks to your heart on Valentine's Day! It's time for a party with cute Dan Cupid reigning on a mighty throne.

February's a short, short month but with plenty of opportunity for party-giving. You can have a Lincoln's or Washington's birthday party, or you can be extra gay and colorful with a Valentine's party. These should be extra popular this year with the pepped-up pace of romance. If anyone in your crowd is about ready for a shower or wedding you might take the cue from Valentine's day and make Cupid's decorations your theme.

Pink-and-white or red-and-white are the gay color schemes and you can carry these out in both food and decorations. A simple but dramatic table picture is seen in the picture in today's column. Three large, red valentine boxes are set on their side in a row to form the main interest for the table. If you want to enlarge on this, get other pink-and-white or red-and-white decorations such as nosegays of roses and tie with a swirl of ribbon.

If you would rather carry this out in flowers, get a nice centerpiece of red-and-white flowers. But have a heart, somewhere along the way. If you have a valentine mold make a valentine cake or jelly mold and work out an arrow with a pastry tube or, if the cake is iced you might even put on an arrow made out of red paper.

Here is a luscious salad that takes it easy on rationed foods:

*Molded Raw Cranberry Salad.
(Serves 6 to 8)

2 cups raw cranberries, ground
1 envelope orange gelatine
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1 cup granulated sugar
2 cups water

Juice of 1 lemon

Pour 1/2 cup water in a bowl. Add gelatine to water. Add 1 1/2 cups water and sugar and stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice. Set aside to cool. Grind raw cranberries, chop nuts and celery fine. Add these ingredients to gelatine. Place salad in one large

Lynn Says

Play Games, Too! Nothing's nicer than having fortunes told at a Valentine party. If you can't afford a professional, have someone dressed as a gypsy, arm her with a heavy glass crystal and booth, and let her go to town.

Letter games are fine for starting off a party. Give each guest a letter to tie around his neck as he enters, and as others appear, let each one dash around to others to make up words. When words are formed, guests appear in front of a person who takes down their names. Prize goes to person appearing in most words.

Novel idea for a scavenger hunt which needn't take you outdoors. Select about 10 guests and make them have something unusual. For example, have a man with two unmatched socks, a girl with two different colored hair bows, someone who wears his watch on the left arm, a girl with two different colored earrings, etc. Everyone is provided with a list of above so he knows what to look for. As he finds the person, he writes down the name. The one finished first gets the prize.

or several individual molds and let jelly until firm. Serve with lettuce or greens.

These clever ham roll-ups add a colorful and festive note to your menu. They're simple to make if you just follow directions:

Ham Roll-Ups.
(Makes 4 Roll-Ups)

2 tablespoons fat
2 1/2 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
Pepper
1 cup milk
1/4 cup grated American cheese
4 slices leftover boiled or baked ham, sliced thin
8 asparagus tips

Blend fat, flour and seasonings. Gradually add the milk. Stir until thick and smooth. Add cheese and stir until it has melted. Cut ham in thin slices 4 x 6 inches. Roll two asparagus tips in each slice. Secure with toothpick, place in a shallow pan and surround with cheese sauce. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 15 minutes. Insert sprigs of parsley at end of each ham roll. Serve at once.

Get out your heart-shaped cutter if you want to make sandwiches.

For a simple children's supper party or for valentine refreshments for grown-ups, serve heart-shaped sandwiches filled with chicken salad and garnish the platter with buttered beets cut in heart shapes. Strawberry and vanilla ice cream with little sugar cookies—a tiny motto card heart placed in the center of each cookie—is effective.

This chicken sandwich spread may be prepared the day before it is used to fit in the day's schedule: *Chicken Sandwich Spread.
4 cups finely minced chicken
1 can pimientos, finely minced
1/2 cup pickle relish
1/4 cup grated onion, if desired
Salt and pepper to taste
Mayonnaise to moisten
Thoroughly mix all ingredients and store in refrigerator until ready to use.

Cherries can make food decorative for any Valentine party whether they are used in cake or pie: Champion Cherry Pie.

Crust:

1 1/2 cups bread flour
10 tablespoons lard
1 teaspoon salt
5 to 6 tablespoons ice water

Sift flour and salt together, add lard and blend. Add ice water gradually and cool.

Filling:

2 1/2 cups pitted sour cherries, drained
1/2 cup cherry juice
2 1/2 tablespoons fine tapioca
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon butter

Soak tapioca, sugar and salt in cherry juice and let stand while pastry is being made. Then mix well with cherries, add butter and put in pie tin. Bake pie for 10 minutes at 450 degrees, then reduce temperature to moderate or 350 degrees and bake for 20 minutes. Turn off oven and let stand at oven temperature for 20 minutes before removing from oven.

If you want sugar-saving suggestions, write to Lynn Chambers, Western Newspaper Union, 210 South Desplaines Street, Chicago 6, Illinois. Don't forget to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for your reply.

AROUND THE HOUSE

Chicken fat saved from stewed chicken may be substituted for shortening in pie crusts, biscuits, spiced or ginger cookies or cake.

Honey should be kept in a warm place in the kitchen. If it does granulate, place the container in a pan of hot water until it liquidizes.

A sharp knife, rinsed in hot water, will do a good job of cutting cake and keeping neat cake and frosting edges.

If a small leak makes it impossible to use the hot water bottle in the regular way, try filling it with hot salt. You'll find it holds the heat even longer than water and will last a long time.

If it is difficult to make wallpaper stick to chimney, ceilings or walls, apply a coat of aluminum paint before papering. Then the wallpaper will not crack or come loose.

Bushek-St. Clair
Wedding Vows

A double-ring wedding ceremony united in marriage Miss Beverly Jane St. Clair, daughter of Mrs. Windus St. Clair, formerly of Oroville, Calif., now of 4862 Santa Monica, and Ernest E. Bushek, formerly of Milwaukee, Wis., at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening. The Rev. P. O. Jensen read the service in the Baptist parsonage.

The bride was becomingly suited in powder blue wool with white accessories. Snow-drops and gardenias formed her corsage. Mrs. St. Clair and Dr. Walter Eddy attended the couple.

A reception followed, for the wedding party and several invited guests, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Eddy, 4848 Santa Monica ave. Lavender and white stock decorated the rooms and the bridal cake centered the table which held lighted tapers.

The young couple are residing at 4875 1/2 Saratoga ave.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER
GIVEN FOR BRIDE-ELECT

Mrs. Roll Keck and Mrs. Walter Eddy complimented Miss Beverly St. Clair, bride-elect, at the Eddy home on Santa Monica, the evening of Feb. 3, when they entertained at a beautifully arranged miscellaneous shower.

Margie and Gladys Keck, young daughters of Mrs. Roll Keck, carried into the room, a gayly decorated wicker basket laden with shower gifts, which they presented to the honored guest. Many beautiful and useful presents were received.

Guests numbering 26 enjoyed the affair and were served refreshments from a bridal-decorated table.

Mrs. Clarkin was hostess to the Postal Clerk's auxiliary in her home, 4540 Cape May, Tuesday. Luncheon was served at noon followed by a business meeting.

Mrs. Howard (Katharine) McCoy of Glendale, returned to her home Sunday after a week's stay here at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lamb, 4929 Narragansett. She came to visit her mother, who has left the naval hospital and is now convalescing at home.

KIWANI ANNES TO MEET

Kiwani Annes of Ocean Beach will meet Tuesday, Feb. 15 at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Woodley, 4868 Santa Cruz ave.

A 6:30 buffet supper will be followed by the regular business meeting. Mrs. Carolyn Holman, president, presiding. Mrs. Grace Greeson, Mrs. Mary Lowmes and Mrs. Veda Moss will serve as hostesses. Mrs. Woodley's home phone is B-7553, or call B-4688. All wives of Kiwanis members are cordially invited.

MISS RANKIN WILL GIVE BOOK REVIEW

The Literature department of the Ocean Beach Women's club will realize its long anticipated pleasure of hearing Margaret Rankin, librarian of the Ocean Beach branch of the public library in her annual book review on Monday, Feb. 14, 7:45 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Fred Hiltz, 4522 Newport ave.

Miss Rankin has chosen the widely discussed "Journey Among Warriors," by Eve Currier. Guests have been invited and Mrs. Hiltz has planned the social hour in keeping with Valentine's day, all of which promises a delightful evening.

Potluck and Program
Methodist Women

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Point Loma Methodist church will hold its regular monthly meeting Thursday, Feb. 17. Following the potluck luncheon at 12:30, a very interesting program has been arranged by Mrs. Lorraine Gerhardt, chairman. Mrs. Ruth Johnson will again present a very inspiring devotional. Mrs. Eleanor Lambert, president, cordially invited all the women to attend this meeting.

A matter of special interest and importance to all the women will be presented. Those who are living in our community even for a short time are urged to attend. A friendly invitation is extended to everyone. If it is impossible to arrange to attend the potluck luncheon, then make every effort to attend the program at 2 o'clock.

The W. C. T. U. will meet Thursday, Feb. 17, at 2 o'clock at Assembly of God, Cape May at Ebers st. Mrs. Laura McChurken will be the afternoon speaker.

Little Judy Schultz, 7-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Schultz has been ill in the Mercy hospital with bronchial pneumonia. She was placed in an oxygen tent from Saturday until Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Schultz expect to bring her home this week end.

SILVER SILENCE!

The space that spans the waters And the surface of the sea Shares its bluish rapture Through the distance dear to thee.

Shaken liquid wind-swept-azure Fills the blenished deep; While the mist of vapor rising Tips the horizon in its sleep.

Giving time its brilliant brightness That Eternity may flow, And a sweep of silver silence Fill the earth with life and glow. —J.E.M.

Valentine Refreshments

From the Navy Wives Cook Book, we print the "Heart Salad" for Valentine's day. Fresh pineapple, now on the market can be used instead of the canned pineapple.

HEART SALAD
(For Valentine's Day)
1/4 cup cold water
1 lb. cottage cheese
2 cups boiling water
2 tbsps. gelatine
2 cups crushed pineapple
1 pkg. red jello

Dissolve plain gelatine in 1/4 cup cold water. Combine with cottage cheese and crushed pineapple. Put in square pan making mixture about 1 inch in depth. Chill.

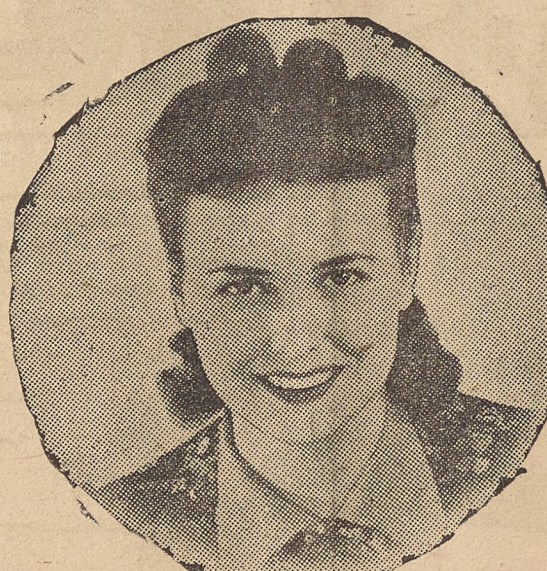

Dissolve the package of red jello in 2 cups boiling water. (Pineapple juice from crushed pineapple may be used to make up 2 cups of liquid.) When cool, but not hardened, pour over the first gelatine mixture to depth of about 1/2 inch. Set away to harden again and when ready to serve, cut with heart shaped cutter and place on lettuce leaf.

As a compliment to this dessert we suggest Ginger Cookies, made as follows:

GINGER COOKIES

Yield: 3 1/2 Dozen 2-inch Cookies
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon ginger
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 cup melted blended shortening
1 egg
Sift flour, baking powder, soda, salt, cinnamon, and ginger. Add molasses and shortening to beat an egg, then combine with dry ingredients. Chill. Shape into balls, flatten with a fork. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet in 350° F. oven about 15 minutes.

The Red Cross
In Ocean Beach

By ONA E. PITCOCK

Starting Feb. 16 at the Ocean Beach elementary school there will be classes in home nursing with Mrs. Helton as instructor. There will be day and night classes. On Wednesday and Friday, 9:30 to 11 a.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. Everyone who possibly can should attend as we will have so few doctors and nurses left on the home front. By taking home nursing we can not only help care for our own family but help our neighbors and act in an emergency.

Don't forget that Tuesday is cookie day for our boys in the hospitals. This week we had a letter from Mrs. Nellie R. Bond, field director, thanking us for the cookies. In part, she said: "The patients wish to join me in thanking the Ocean Beach Red Cross center for the delicious cookies. The men so appreciate something personal also something to eat: Thank you very much."

Next Tuesday, Feb. 15th we wish to send enough Valentines with the cookies so that each boy will receive a Valentine. Please help them have a pleasant day. We all owe them so much.

Mrs. Mae Heidbrink received a letter from Red Cross telling her the records she gave Christmas were on their way to the South Pacific. Don't forget that records or money for records can be given all year 'round. They are sent to all fronts and hospitals.

If you have bed or table lamps you will donate, Red Cross would like very much to have them for a new hospital being equipped. Remember, we have convalescent slippers cut and ready to saw, also sweaters, watch caps, helmets, socks, gloves, stumps, etc., to knit. Then there are snow-suits and dresses to sew. When you have given 100 hours of work you receive a Red Cross pin.

Don't forget the gift box at the center. A book, stationery, soap, handkerchief or any article you think a man would appreciate. Puzzles and games are enjoyed. Remember these boys are in the hospital because they were protecting you and the land we love so well.

Don't forget to go to the Blood Bank. Call F-7704 and make an appointment. It may save the life of your loved one if not the life of somebody else's loved one.

Do all you can to help get this horrible war over with as soon as possible. No formal invitations are being sent for this affair, as it is open for those who wish to come.

Eastern Star Notes
